TO CURTAIL PRODUCTION.

Fall River Cotton Mills to Shut Down for Several Days.

FALL RIVER, Mass., April 15.—Some of the Fall River cotton mills will shut down next Tuesday until April 24, for the purpose of further curtailing production. The Chace, Metacomet, Pocasset and Seaconnet have already announced a stop of four days, mills which will run on short time are the Arkwright, Bourne, Durfee, Osborne and Stevens.

It is understood that a majority of the factory corporations will be closed at least two days next week. Several, however, will run on full time, including the Cornanicut, Osborne and Stevens.

LITTLE OUTWARD INDICATION.

American Flag Flown from House in Which Abraham Lincoln Died.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Further than the flying of the American flag from the window of the house in which Abraham Lincoln died, there was little outward indication here that today was the forty-sixth anniversary of the martyred President's death. The house now contains the Oldroyd collection of Lincoln relics, notable among them the death mask of Lincoln. Several states commemorated the anniversary of the assassination of the martyred President among them New York, where the flags on the public buildings were flown at half mast.

ATTACK EXPECTED MOMENTARILY.

Douglas Residents Fearful of Charge on Insurrectos.

Rebel Commanders Agree to Protect the American City.

AGUA PRIETA, Mexico, April 15.—With an attack momentarily expected on the 1,000 insurrectos now holding Agua Prieta, residents of Douglas, fearful of a repetition of the occurrences attendent on the battle Wednesday when Douglas was bullet-swept and two Americans killed and 11 wounded in this city, pin their faith to ability of Captain Juliet E. Gaujot and his 100 troopers of the First cavalry to compel the federals to attack from a direction that will place Douglas out of the line of fire. The rebel commanders last night agreed to do their share in protecting the American city of which Agua Prieta is practically a part, but pointed out that if the federals attack from the south, shots would be certain to enter Douglas. As the attacking force carries several machine guns, loss in Douglas in this event would be heavy.

The federals will be informed by Captain Gaujot that they must fire from such a position that no bullets fall upon American territory, and that in case either side fires across the line, the United States cavalry will be used to stop the fighting. This is taken here to mean that Captain Gaujot has received orders to use his strong measures to protect lives and property of Americans should either side fire into Douglas. Captain Gaujot, on the other hand, will take steps to prevent Americans from standing on the boundary in case of an attack.

Douglas is crowded with Americans who have come in from all points of the southwest.

Late last night rebel scouts returned to Agua Prieta with the information the army observed at dusk marching toward Agua Prieta from the west, was the combined forces of Juan Cabral and Senor Talamantes, numbering more than 600. If this report proves true the rebels will have a force of more than 1,600 in Agua Prieta and will outnumber the federals in northern Sonora.

ADVANCING ON EL PASO.

Federal Commander Preparing to Attack by Marching Forces.

EL PASO, Texas, April 15.—With Colonel Antonio Robago at the head of a federal cavalry force, said to number from 500 to 1,500, reported advancing from Chihuahua, the insurrectos advancing on Juarez, and the garrison in that city making every preparation for defense, Civilian Juarez today is awaiting the outcome of the race between the marching forces. If the insurrectos arrive first and attack, it is the opinion they will take Juarez. On the other hand, should Colonel Robago arrive ahead of the rebels it is reported the insurrectos will be unsuccessful or abandon the attempt without any fighting whatever. If both forces arrive simultaneously it is expected that one of the hottest battles of the present revolution will take place and Ely Paso will be in more danger than was Douglas, Ariz, when Agua Prieta was attacked.

General Navarro, the federal commander, professes to have no information as to whether the rebels are near Juarez. However, his men are digging trenches and scanning the surrounding country from house tops and other vantage points.

DOES NOT END NEGOTIATIONS.

Madero Turns Back From Attempted Peace Mission into Mexico.

EAGLE PASS, Texas, April 15.—The announcement that Francisco Madero, Sr., has turned back from his attempted peace mission into Mexico, on account of minister Limantour's inability to control the federal officials along the border, has not ended the negotiations. The elder Madero on his return here announced that he would suggest to his son that the government appoint a commission to treat with a similar commission to be appointed by him. The party here probably will return to San Antonio.

The peace commissioners—Francisco Madero, Sr., his son, Alfonso, and Raphael Hernandez—arrived here yesterday from San Antonio. They were joined by Catarino Benavides, a cousin of Don Francisco. The experience here was a more serious repetition of the El Paso fiasco. A telegram brought the envoys here and again the passports could not be located. Hernandez wired General Trivino at Monterey and the latter by telegraph ordered colonel Pena, the post commander at Ciudad Porfirio Diaz to issue passports. In desperation Senor Madero decided to take chances with his liberty on this unsatisfactory guarantee.

The party had hardly entered the car when the custom officials insisted on searching the baggage. It required much slowing of telegrams to placate them. The next trouble appeard in the form of an unkempt district judge who insisted on arresting Benavides on a warrant which he did not exhibit, charging him with being a revolutionist.

Benavides showed his passports in vain and would have been taken to jail but for the insistence of Senor Madero that Governor Pena had pledged his word for their safety and must at least return them to an American jail. General Trevino, commanding the military zone, was appealed to at Monterey and in reply ordered that no member of the party be molested. He urged that the train be allowed to depart. At this point Senor Madero threw up his hands and his mission at the same time. "If the government cannot enforce its orders there is no safety for us in Mexico" he said. "I shall not try again."

DR. HILL'S RETIREMENT.

Resignation as Ambassador to Germany Becomes Effective July 1.

BERLIN, April 15. The announcement from the German capital of Dr. David Jayne Hill, whose resignation as ambassador of the United States to Germany it was announced yesterday will become effective July 1, is regretted at the foreign office, where the relations between the government officials and Dr. Hill have been of the very best. It is felt here that Dr. Hill's tenure of the embassy has done much to further German-American friendship.

The ambassador's resignation apparently did not come wholly as a surprise, though no official explanation of his intention to abandon the diplomatic service had been received at the foreign office before Dr. Hill left Berlin March 10 for America. Attention is called in official circles to the fact that the relations between Emperor William and the ambassador are most cordial.

American rumors to the effect that count Hebrich Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador at Washington, was simultaneously resigning, which reports it was thought might give political significance to Dr. Hill's retirement, were promptly and emphatically denied at the foreign office.

The date upon which Ambassador Hill's resignation becomes effective will enable him to participate in the reception, which is being planned for the visiting American warships during Kiel week in June, and which promises to be one of the most important demonstrations of the German-American good relations in recent years. The German newspapers are mystified by the sudden resignation of the American ambassador and print an assortment of rumors as to what caused his retirement, including one to the effect that Dr. Hill has clashed with Secretary of State Knox, over the potash question.

The Mitiag Zeitung pays a high tribute to Dr. Hill as a writer, scholar and diplomat, and says it is an open secret that the American ambassador never felt at ease in his Berlin post because of the incidents which occurred at the time of his appointment. The ambassador, the paper continues, regarded his stay at the German capital as temporary and accepted the post under these circumstances, only as an egress from a disagreeable situation between Germany and America.

LOAN TO CHINA.

American Financiers Furnish $50,000,000 for Use of Empire.

PEKIN, April 15.—The $50,000,000 loan to China by a group of American financiers, negotiations for which have been going on for some time, was signed here today.

The loan of $50,000,000 to China, negotiations for which were successfully concluded today at Pekin, will be used in furthering currency reforms and other interests of the Chinese empire. An imperial edict issued October 29 last authorized the loan from a group of American financiers, who were to take a bond issue to cover the loan at 95. The bonds were to mature at a period of from 40 to 45 years from issuance and to bear five per cent interest. Later a suggestion was made to allow European capital to take part in the loan and after prolonged negotiations an agreement was reached providing that four banking groups of the United States, England, Germany and France should participate equally in the loan and that the financial advisor of the government with regard to the use of the loan, should come from a neutral European state.

Banking houses concerned are the Morgan houses, the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Company, the Bank of Indo-China and the Deutsch East-Asiatic Bank.

RIOTING AGAIN ON AT TREPAIL.

Mob of Wine Growers Sack Houses of Merchants.

Troops Quell Disturbance With Their Sabres in the Air.

EPERNAY, Department of Marne, France, April 15.—Following a day of calm, violent rioting again occurred late last night in the disturbed champagne region. At Trepail, a mob of wine growers sacked the houses of two wine merchants and destroyed the furniture, with which they erected barricades in the streets. Troops sent to quell the disturbance were greeted with a shower of broken bottles, but the soldiers, charging with their sabres in the air, eventually were successful in dispersing the rioters.

The disturbances were renewed this morning at Trepail. The mob destroyed another wine depot and also demolished the house of a merchant. At Verseinay, near Rheims, bands of men invaded the vine lands and tore up 50 acres of vines, which they burned, together with the vine keeper's house.

VICTORIA, B. C., April 15.—According to advices brought by steamer Antiochus yesterday, the Chinese legation at Tokio was seized by 300 Chinese students who drove out Chinese minister Wang and terrorized his staff. HAS RIGHT OF WAY.

Canadian Reciprocity Agreement Being Argued in the House.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The Canadian reciprocity agreement has the right of way in the House of Representatives. With 20 hours' debate on the subject, ten hours to each side agreed upon, Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee leads the reciprocity champions and Representative Dalzell of Pennsylvania, the opposition. Mr. Underwood has yielded five hours of his time to Mr. McCall of Massachusetts, who will urge the ratification of the agreement from the Republican standpoint.

Today's opening argument for the agreement was assigned to Representative Claude Kitchin of North Carolina, a member of the ways and means committee.

WILL SOON BE RATIFIED.

Honduras Treaty to be Referred to Foreign Relations Committee.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The Honduras trade treaty which was reported to the Senate last session, will be referred back to the committee on foreign relations when the Senate next meets in executive session. This action will not be taken because of opposition to the measure, but on the ground that there are to be a number of changes in the personnel of the committee and friends of the measure feel that new members should be given an opportunity to study the convention before it is called up for ratification.

Chairman Cullom of the foreign relations committee is of the opinion the treaty will be ratified at the present session.

HOPE FOR FAIR WEATHER.

Weather Bureau Arranging for Easter Sunday Fashion Parade.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—That Easter Sunday's fashion parades generally, will be favored with fair weather throughout the country, was the best promise the weather bureau's highest officials could give today. Tonight a final forecast will be more definite as to the probable state of tomorrow's weather.

A WEEK-END COMMUTER.

President Taft May Journey to Boston and Beverly Frequently.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—If Congress remains in session through the hot weather President Taft probably will become a pronounced week-end commuter, journeying from Washington to Boston and Beverly whenever he has an opportunity. The President hopes to spend some sort of vacation in his new cottage near Beverly, even if he takes it a few days at a time. Mrs. Taft will go to Beverly late in June, according to plans. After Mrs. Taft and the Taft children open the cottage the President is expected to begin his week-end trips. From here to Beverly is only a little more than a 12-hour trip and the President by leaving Friday nights, can have two full days' vacation and still be back at his desk in the White House on Mondays.

DEMOCRATS DIVIDED.

Enough Join Republicans to Amend the Publicity Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—By a vigorous cracking of the party whip the Democratic leaders obtained today, after a stormy session, the passage of the Rucker bill for publicity of campaign contributions before election, but an emergency developed in the Democratic ranks and the gap refused to be closed. Twenty-eight of the majority party refused to fall into line, and the Republicans barely missed scoring a big triumph and blocking or materially amending the second of the Democratic program measures.

The fight arose over the extent to which publicity should be applied. The Democratic leaders were forced to appeal constantly to party loyalty to prevent the Independent Republican amendment extending publicity to the individual receipts and expenses of candidates for Congress from being retained in the bill when it finally passed. As it was, the amendment was adopted despite the protest of the leaders, by the support of 59 of the Democrats, who voted with the solid Republican strength.

Resort to a parliamentary move obliged the Democrats later to get rid of the amendment, but 28 of their number refused to change their attitude, and stuck to the Republicans in opposing the Democratic majority. The bill passed finally by a unanimous vote, but only after a hot discussion, in which feeling ran high.

The amendment offered by Representative Jackson, a new Republican member from Kansas, required all candidates for Congress to file statements of the source and use of their individual campaign funds in both the primary and general elections.

The amendment met instant support on the Republican side, and encountered the opposition of the Democratic leaders. Mr. Rucker of Missouri, chairman of the committee in charge of the bill, asserted that it would so change the form of the law that it might endanger its final passage.

This did not deter 52 Democrats from supporting the Jackson amendment. They and the Republicans gave to the amendment a majority that resulted in its adoption, 172 to 131. The announcement of the vote was greeted with tumultuous applause on the Republican side.

There was a hurried conference of Democratic leaders, as the progress of the vote showed the success of the amendment. As soon as the vote was announced Mr. Rucker moved to recommit the bill with its new amendment to the elections committee, with instructions to that committee to report the bill back to the House without the Jackson amendment.

This effort to squeeze the amendment out of the bill brought about a split in the ranks of the Democrats who had favored the Jackson amendment. Twenty-eight of them stood by their former action and voted against the motion to recommit the bill, but the Democratic leaders mustered enough votes to carry their point, 157 to 140, and the bill technically was sent back to the committee.

Mr. Rucker gathered the members of the committee around him and without leaving the floor they instructed him to report the bill again without the Jackson amendment. As soon as the vote had been announced he once more reported the bill to the House with the Jackson amendment left out of it, and its motion was carried, 165 to 139.

The bill in its original form then passed the House without a dissenting vote.

The Democrats who withstood the efforts of party leaders to dispose of the Jackson amendment were: Akin and George, New York; Alexander and Borland, Missouri; Buchanan and Stone, Illinois; Buikley, Sherwood and Williams, Ohio; Burke and Konop, Wisconsin; Cox and Gray, Indiana; Dupre, Estopinal, Pujo, Ransdell and Wickliffe, Louisiana; Goodwin, Arkansas; Hamill, Townsend, Tuttle, New Jersey; Hardy, Texas; Pepper, Louisiana; Raker, California; Sweet, Michigan; Thayer, Massachusetts; Wilson, Pennsylvania.

The Rucker bill, as finally passed, makes more stringent the campaign publicity law passed in 1910. That law requires publicity of funds after election. The Rucker bill will require publicity of funds by the committees 10 days previous to election, and the filing of supplementary statements every three days thereafter until election day.

The Rucker bill limited publicity of campaign expenditures to sums of $100 or over, but Mr. Rucker accepted an amendment of Mr. Kopp, Republican, of Wisconsin, requiring the publication of all payments in sums of $10 or over for campaign purposes.

TAFT WARNS MEXICO.

No More Battles Must be Fought Where Americans Are in Danger.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—President Taft tonight served notice on the Mexican government and on the Mexican insurgents that no more battles must be fought where harm will be done to Americans or where their property will suffer. The chief executive is said to be determined that the lives of American non-combatants shall not be endangered by the forces of President Diaz and those of General Madero. The scenes of future combats between the contending forces must be chosen with this in mind or the United States will immediately become a factor to be reckoned with.

Both sides warned against a repetition of the unfortunate incident at Agua Prieta, near Douglas, Ariz., which caused the killing of two Americans and the wounding of 11 more. The notice was given through the Department of Justice. The view was expressed at the White House that the warnings will be obeyed to the letter and no more battles will be fought in the vicinity of the boundary.

Neither the President nor any of his advisers will be entirely satisfied in any way inclined to regard the [illegible] at Agua Prieta as a [illegible] of anything more serious, but they did conclude that it must not be repeated.

The President knows that battle grounds are not chosen as places [illegible] for athletic contests, but at the same time he takes the position that preparations for battle must be made by the hostile forces in Mexico with due consideration of the effect upon non-combatant Americans. Hereafter the government expects both the insurgents and the Mexican federal troops to erect trenches or make their lines of battle far enough away from American soil to make it certain that Americans engaged in the occupations of [illegible] will not be interrupted by bullets.

The President's action followed a consultation with Attorney General Wickersham, Secretary Dickinson and Acting Secretary of State Huntington Wilson.

TRADE RETARDED BY WEATHER

Despatches to Dun's Review Show Little Business Improvement.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Despatches to Dun's Review, from branch offices of R. G. Dun & Co. indicate that improvement in business is the exception rather than the rule, progress being retarded in many sections by unseasonable weather. Clear skies at Boston have helped retail distribution, but higher temperatures are needed to stimulate demand for spring and summer merchandise. The wholesale markets show little betterment, although in some branches a considerable business has resulted from price concessions in prices, notably raw silk. Advices from woolen and worsted mills are unsatisfactory as a rule, and the cotton goods trade continues generally unsettled.

Total bank clearings this week at all leading cities in the United States aggregate $2,509,979,125, a decrease as compared with last year of 7.9 per cent, but a gain of 1.4 per cent over the figures of the corresponding week in 1909.

RUSSIAN PREMIER UPHELD.

But Council of the Empire Refuses to Accept Explanation.

ST PETERSBURG, April 14.—After Premier Stolypin had spent 10 minutes today in justifying before the Council of the Empire the government's action in prorogating the zemstvo bill by imperial prerogative during an artificially created recess of the council and the Duma, the Council by a vote of 93 to 53, declared that the explanation had not met the criticism. The object of the interpellation which caused the explanation fatal to a measure, because the vote fell just short of a two-thirds majority, which would have forced submission of the controversy to the emperor.

The prime minister denied the right of the legislative bodies to examine into the act of the extraordinary session which were the native circumstances which were the native circumstances for the issuance of legislation by imperial prerogative. The determination of such circumstances, M. Stolypin declared, was subject to the sole cognizance of the monarch based on the reports of the cabinet. M. Stolypin said that the rejection of the zemstvo bill by the Council of the Empire would mean the wrecking of the Russian national policy.

Count Ouschoff, in closing the debate, declared that it was useless to enact laws if the ministers played cards with them.

RAILROAD RATE WAR ENDS.

Features Opposed by Boston & Maine Retained in the Bill.

CONCORD, N. H., April 14.—After Friday conferences, the senate and house of representatives reached an agreement late today on the public service commission bill and the railroad rate bill, both of which have been the cause of dissension between the two branches of the state legislature for many days, and tonight both acts were passed and sent to the governor for his approval. Both sides made concessions.

Both the public service commission bill and the railroad rate bill originated in the house and were sent to the senate separately. The senate, however, combined the two, and until today had held out for their passage in that form. Tonight the senate receded on a separation if the house would agree to certain amendments. The two bills were then passed to be engrossed.

The railroad rate bill as adopted provides that the public service commission shall investigate the whole subject of railroad rates, and especially those rates of the Boston & Maine road which are admitted to be excessive and report its findings to the next session of the legislature. Meanwhile the rates now in force are legalized until July 1, 1913, by which time the commission's report will have been completed.

The two features opposed by the Boston & Maine railroad, one the right of the shipper to recover if the commission finds that certain rates now in force are excessive, and the other the clause of the bill to give the railroad the right of appeal, are retained in the bill as passed tonight.

PORTSMOUTH.

Friends' Women's Foreign Missionary Society—Birthday Parties for Rev. Mr. Loucks and Mrs. Sweet.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society connected with the Friends' Church met with the president, Mrs. Richard R. Macomber, afternoon and evening. The meeting in the afternoon began with singing, after which each one repeated a scripture verse and prayer was offered. Mrs. Alfred H. Borden, Mrs. William H. Chace, Jr. and Mrs. William H. Allen of Fall River read from "Western Women in Eastern Lands." Considerable sewing was accomplished. At 6:30 a supper of sandwiches, biscuit, beans, coffee and cake was served to between 60 and 70 persons.

The evening program began with the singing of "Jesus Shall Reign," Mrs. Benjamin Greene pianist, and Rev. Alfred M. Estes offered prayer. A piano duet, "Cujus Animam or Stabat Mater Rossini, by Mrs. Benjamin Greene and her daughter, Mrs. William H. Allen, was followed by a duet by the little children, Henry and Florence Chace and Mrs. William H. Chace, Jr., a chorus in song, "What can you bring," reading by Miss Amy Sherman of letters from the India missionary circles, piano solo, "Crystal Shower Waltz," song by Miss Alice Ayler, "The Year of Jubilee;" reading by Mrs. Richard R. Macomber, "The Work of the Y. W. C. A. Swain in India;" song by Mrs. William H. Chace, Jr., "Go forward, Christian Soldier;" piano duet, Mrs. Greene and Mrs. Allen. "Virginia Reel" by Atherton; vocal solo, "Hear the Cry," Miss Marguerite Holden; reading, Mrs. Orswel, "A Korean Legend," named Po Ku Nun Kow or Salvation for All Women Institution;" reading, "China's famine," by Mrs. Chace.

The rain of Friday evening did not prevent the gathering of the parishioners and friends of Rev. David C. Loucks at the parsonage to do honor to his fifty sixth birthday by a surprise party. Had the evening been clear the number would have been much larger, but the parlors were comfortably filled and the surprise to Rev. Mr. Loucks was complete. Mrs. Loucks, who was in the secret, had kept it intact. Fancy crackers, cake, cocoa and confectionery were served. Mrs. Warren R. Sherman and Miss Hattie K. Hughes acting as waiters. Mrs. Clara E. Burtis in behalf of the company and those who were absent, presented Rev. Mr. Loucks with a bouquet of carnations pinks and ferns and a handsome frosted cake decorated with two dozen of candles, five and six, standing for 56. Rev. Mr. Loucks responded, thanking the givers for remembering him with "Sweets to the Sweet." He also received a number of individual gifts. The rain slackened at the time of leaving, giving little or no discomfort. The people walked a mile to be present.

The hostess was assisted in serving fancy crackers, cake, coffee and fruit by Mrs. Joseph Burke and Miss Hattie K. Hughes, and after which was presented with a beautiful valuable china berry set, and a silver cut glass centre dolly. Rev. David C. Loucks made the presentation address in behalf of the society, to which Mrs. Sweet made a brief reply thanking them. It had been planned to give Mrs. Sweet a surprise party and make the occasion Friday evening; but by reason of this plan, she forestalled it by the invitation for Thursday.

ADMIRAL MASON TO RETIRE.

Former Officer in Charge of Torpedo Station Suffering from Ill Health.

Rear Admiral Newton E. Mason, chief of the bureau of ordnance of the Navy Department, has arranged to apply for retirement in the near future, ill health following an attack of the grip being the reason given for the move.

As Rear Admiral Mason has an additional number in grade, having been advanced for conduct in battle during the Spanish war, his retirement will not cause any vacancies. Having seen 40 years' service he is eligible for retirement. He has just returned to the Navy Department after a sojourn at Atlantic City for his health. He is still suffering from his recent illness, but was at his desk Friday.

Admiral, then Commander, Mason was inspector in charge of the Torpedo Station from October 1899 to June 1902.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Services were held on the morning of Good Friday at St. Columba, the Berkeley Memorial Chapel, conducted by Rev. Latta Griswold. The vested choir of St. George's School was present and there was a good-sized congregation. The preacher, Rev. Father Powel of the Society of St. John the Evangelist, Boston, took as his text Matthew XXVII: 22: "Pilate saith unto them: What shall I do then with Jesus, which is called Christ?"

Branches of green palms have been placed above the memorial tablet to the late Rev. Henry Morgan Stone, with purple streamers at the side, in commemoration of the third anniversary of his death.

The Sunshine Circle of Holy Cross Church is planning to hold a thimble party soon after Easter. Invitations are being sent out, accompanied by a small sock, in which the recipient is to place a sum of money twice the size of the sock worn. The program of the afternoon will include a musicale.

No meeting of the Oliphant Club was held this week, owing to the fact that the regular day came on Good Friday.

Newport County Pomona Grange, which will be entertained by Little Compton Grange at its next meeting, is to hold a pound party as a part of the lecturer's program, the proceeds to be added to the new regalia fund. There will also be debates and music.

It says: "I have given away $5,000,000, $1,000,000 of it to Chicago and the rest of it to Christian colleges from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and even beyond the sea. I have no more money for benevolences. I have enough left to care for me, and I retire from public life happy."

A WOODLAND EASTER.

[John Kendrick Bangs in Lippincott's.]

'Tis Easter morn! A day of loveliness.
O'be earth, and sky above, are bright of mien.
Sweet Nature dons her fairest gala dress
And everywhere rare blossoms deck the scene.
The birds their Easter carols blithely sing.
A swelling chorus echoes through the dells,
And with her joyous message dawning Spring
The story of the Resurrection tells.
All things look upward to the heavens high;
In offerings of praise each bears its part,
And deep within my woodland dwelling I
Find Easter chimes are ringing in my heart!

THE EASTER PARADE.

[Kate Masterson in the Columbian.]

An echoing drift of organ rolls
Through gothic churchly arches
Where sunlit in marble aureoles
Smile as the column marches.

Fresh from the flower-hung chancel rail
Comes scent of Springtime's greening.
Gathered in valley and in dale
To whisper April's meaning.

Across the sky the steeples chime
A message of rejoicing,
Sounding the song of Eastertime
Our heart's new gladness voicing.

Blossom ye flowers—chime on, ye bells,
Sing out your chant of glory,
Till every pink and pansy tells
Once more the sweet old story.

Daisies and daffodils devout,
Gather your fragrance nearer,
Leave not a bird or bluebell out
That makes the music clearer.

And down the stately Avenue
City-scarred sons and daughters;
Forward—our souls! In proud review—
We walk beside still waters!

FANCIES.

She saw it in the window,
She went inside the door,
She stood before the mirror
And liked it more and more.
She asked the price—was staggered—
Looked at her watch, then fled:
"I'm late for my appointment,"
And quickly got outside.

All night she saw the vision
A-dance before her eyes,
Herself there in the mirror
And on her puffs the prize.
"What matters scarf, or jabot,
Or gloves, or this or that?
'Twill take my bottom dollar
But that's my Easter hat."

—[Life.

Just pay the Easter bill this year
With disposition sunny,
For this year's hats are large and you
Get something for your money.

What matters, pray,
What flowers may wreath it?
Its beauty is
Her face beneath it.

—[New York Tribune.

Hub—A penny for your thoughts, dear.

Wifey—They will cost you a lot more than that, my love. I was thinking of the handsome new suit and hat I've ordered.

(No, Maude dear, there is no similarity between the Easter lily and the egg-plant.—[Philadelphia Record.

He (thinking of sermon)—Quite a novel treatment, eh?

She (thinking of the hat in front)—Yes; but too glaringly a bargain, don't you think?—[Judge.

First Bridge Player—I couldn't make up my mind what to wear. I've three hats, but they're all out of style.

Second Bridge Player—I was in a worse quandary. I have three hats, and they're all the latest fancy.—[Life.

Father—What! You want to become engaged to that measly little Blink. Why, he isn't a bit of use.

Daughter—Why, papa, he is perfectly lovely. His hair and complexion match my new spring suit exactly, so there!

Maud—Kate is decidedly careless as to style. Why, she's wearing still one of those small hats of several seasons ago.

Alice—Yes, she makes me think of George Washington. She's got her little hat yet.—[Washington Star.

GOOD WORK.

Done Daily in Newport. Many Citizens Tell of It.

Nearly every reader has heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. Their good work in Newport still continues, and our citizens are constantly adding endorsement by public testimony. No better proof of merit can be had than the experience of friends and neighbors. Read this case:

George C. Kaull, Cranston Ave., Newport, R. I., says: "I am not certain as to the cause of my kidney trouble, but believe it was due to drinking impure water. Some time ago I was attacked by a dull ache across the lower part of my back. The kidney secretions also became scant and painful in passage, and caused me considerable annoyance during the night. When I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Wright & Hay's Drug Store and found relief upon taking the contents. The use of a second box effected a complete cure, for which I am truly grateful."

THE SENATE'S DUTY REGARDING PARDONS.

At last a member of the senate has had the good sense and appreciation of the fitness of things to insist that before pardons are granted by that body on recommendation of the governor and the committee on pardons an explanation should be made of the conditions which led to the recommendation. This is some improvement over the practice which has been common, of accepting the recommendation at its face value and making no inquiry as to the reason for the pardon or the circumstances connected with the crime committed and the petition for executive clemency. Heretofore, it is safe to say—indeed, Senator Champlin of New Shoreham, who recently asked for explanations before pardons were granted, specifically implied that such was the case—the senate in the majority of cases in recent years at least has endorsed the recommendations of the governor and committee without definite knowledge concerning the matters on which it was acting. That such a procedure is entirely wrong in cases involving the freedom of men who have been found guilty of crime is patent on the face of the situation.

If a certain number of prisoners are to be pardoned every year, which has seemed to be the view taken of the pardoning power vested in the governor and the senate, it is a long step forward to have the cases studied out by the members of the senate before they act in the premises. The exercise of the pardoning prerogative is a serious matter, and in the opinion of many should not be used except in cases of especially marked deserving. That it has been exercised without such justification is well known to all who follow the proceedings of the legislature from year to year. There have been repeated protests from various sources against the too free use of this power, but with not very much success. It is a satisfaction, however, that those responsible for clearing the prison of the incumbrance of criminals who have been pardoned, through petitions in behalf of several of these cases have been considered. If this course is continued and the senators also insist on knowing all about the cases considerable gain will be made.

BUTLER AND PRYOR.

The fiftieth anniversary of the attack upon Fort Sumter brings out some exceedingly interesting reminiscences from Judge Roger A. Pryor and a study in contrast between his career and that of Edmund Ruffin. Both were Virginians, both were original secessionists, the predominant sentiment of their state was Union, and both did all in their power to move it from the Confederate column.

The time came with increasing malignancy when the Virginia convention voted down the ordinance of secession. It was Virginia which called the peace convention of February 4, which sought to arrange terms on which the South would remain in the Union. The special effort of President Buchanan was to obtain some declaration from Congress and the Republican party recognizing the Supreme Court decision that the constitution protected slavery in the territories. The Crittenden compromise would have given far the greater part of the territories to freedom, recognizing slavery only in territories south of the Missouri Compromise line, which amounted only to what is now New Mexico and Arizona. The Republicans would not assent to this, though there is good reason to believe that it would have saved the face of the South and her leading men would have accepted the terms.

Ruffin, an old man, joined a South Carolina regiment in order to participate in the earliest fighting. Pryor went to Charleston to urge the people there to attack Fort Sumter, as the only means of forcing the hand of Virginia and driving her into the Confederacy. When the attack on Sumter was decided upon Beauregard offered Pryor the honor of firing the first shot, which he had been so eager to have fired. Pryor urged that the honor was due Ruffin, who had originated the idea of secession, as opposed to Calhoun's nullification plan 30 years before. Ruffin fired the shot.

Virginia seceded, but the subsequent events were not exactly what Pryor and Ruffin anticipated. When Lee surrendered Ruffin, who was an old man, could not survive defeat and blew out his brains. Pryor, who was a young man, moved to New York and has enjoyed a long and distinguished career at the bar and on the bench. He is as well satisfied with the results of the war as are the men against whom he fought. That first shot he says, freed the slaves; nothing but war could have destroyed slavery.

NAVAL INTERESTS ON THE LAKES.

Four ocean steamers, to be employed between Boston and South America, are being built in a shipyard in Detroit. This announcement is interesting for several reasons. The chief pretext on which steamship subsidies are demanded is the alleged greater cost of shipbuilding in this country than abroad. Yet our ship builders are seeking contracts from foreign nations for war vessels. The Pere River yard recently launched a steamer for use in Cuban trade, and now a Detroit yard is building a fleet of steamers for use in South American trade. Of course Americans could use foreign-built vessels in trade with Cuba and Brazil; why do they have them built in our yards if our costs are 35 or 40 per cent higher than in British yards?

It is also interesting to notice that lake shipyards are building vessels for trade on the deep sea. This is a new development. Why did not a coast yard secure this business? Is it really cheaper to build on the lakes, nearer the mills where steel plates are rolled, than on the coast? There are steel works near the Atlantic coast, and at least one big rolling mill on the coast itself, built with a view to producing iron and steel from import Cuban ore.

The Canadian government has consented to the passage of the Dubuque through its canals to go into service on our lakes. It had refused this consent if the Dubuque was to be added to our fleet there, but consented to her passage if she was to replace the Nashville. Even with this replacement, we have a considerable fleet on the lakes, and Canada does not half like it. There is not much left of the Rush-Bagpot agreement regarding armed vessels on the lakes. A few years ago our government was extremely careful to keep within the limits of that agreement, but now it cares nothing for it and practically invites Great Britain to denounce it. It is Canada now which is solicitous about the agreement. The change on the part of our government is due to the influence of the lake shipyards. They desire naval contracts, and it is they which have procured naval stations on the lakes.

The Dominion would like to have a general disarmament agreement, or at least a new agreement which would replace that of Rush and Bagpot and would bind the United States. An agreement to disarm entirely on the lakes would be a fitting celebration of the centennial of peace between the United States and Great Britain.

CUSTOM-MADE AND READY-MADE.

There hardly seems to be any need for tailors to be urged to charge higher prices, as those of Providence recently were advised to do by a representative of their national organization. Tailors never have been considered over-modest in the matter of prices and in the general advance for commodities of all sorts the cost of clothing has not been unique by remaining unchanged. The reason given for this advice to increase prices is worthy of note. This representative of the national body does not say the tailors are not now charging all that the clothes they make are worth, or that the cost of materials has advanced and the price of the manufactured article must therefore be increased. What he does declare is that as the cost of ready-made clothing has advanced the dealers in that class of goods are advertising their wares as the equal of custom-made clothes, and consequently if the latter are to hold their place in the esteem of the people as superior the price attached to them must be increased to offset the claim of the dealers that ready-made garments are just as good.

In other words, the advice of this tailor of national standing and reputation is that the tailors must put up the price of their goods or the people will not believe they are better than ready-made garments for which almost as much is charged. That is to say, custom-made clothing must depend for its popularity upon a belief by the public that it is much superior to the ready-made article, and the public will not believe that unless there is a great difference in price between the two kinds of garments. That there is much truth in this there is little doubt, but it is not often that one in the business makes such a frank acknowledgment of the conditions and gives openly such advice. It is not impossible, however, that it was not intended to take the people into his confidence and not expected that his statement would be reported beyond the circle of his hearers. It is hardly likely, though, that the wide circulation of his words will affect the business of the tailors materially, since what he said was practically known before.

Senator Cummings of Iowa wishes the monetary commission to make its final report by December 1 and terminate its existence on the following day. In view of the somewhat general dissatisfaction in the Senate with the commission, its apparent failure to make substantial progress in the way of accomplishing the purpose for which it was established and its alleged extravagance, it is quite possible that the bill may become a law. The commission consists of former Senators Aldrich, Hale, Burrows, Money and Teller, three Republicans and two Democrats, who have recently ended their Senatorial careers and have good jobs in the commission, at salaries and with accommodations fairly equal to those they received as Senators.

Congressman Foss of Illinois desires a national arbitration tribunal, with power under certain restrictions to settle controversies in case of a threatened or existing strike or lockout in which is involved any commerce with foreign nations, among two or more states, or with the Indians, or in case such strike arises in any territory of the United States. He has introduced a bill providing for such a comprehensive tribunal, which in addition to the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, who is to be a member ex officio, will consist of six members elected to serve six years at $8,000 a year. The proposed compensation ought to secure good men for such a tribunal.

The Democratic leaders in the House of Representatives have shown that they know how to pass bills without delay. Two important measures, one for the direct election of United States Senators and the other for the publicity of campaign expenses have already been adopted, each within a day of being reported from committee, and early next week they promise to push the Canadian reciprocity agreement to a vote. Perhaps the Senate may learn something from Democratic methods. It may be that too little delay is as bad as too much, but the country desires the legislators to do something and will be inclined to prefer quick work to long delays.

The developments of the last few days on the Mexican border seem to justify President Taft's action in sending troops to Texas. He is more convinced than ever that conditions in Mexico are alarming, but is hoping there will be no need for further movement to the south. If there should be, however, 20,000 American troops are ready for any emergency.

The farmers of Cumberland and Cole counties, Illinois, which for 20 years have been the centre of the industry, have signed an agreement not to raise broom corn for five years unless the dealers guarantee them a price to exceed $120 a ton in advance of planting. This seems to be a sweeping agreement.

Hardly good Easter weather—but it may be better tomorrow.

VACCINATION IN THE PHILIPPINES.

[Journal of the American Medical Association.]

The opposition ignorantly raised against vaccination has received another conclusive answer in the report on small pox and vaccination in the Philippine Islands by Passed Assistant Surgeon Victor C. Heiser, director of health in the Philippines, and Assistant Surgeon Robert Olesen. They say that at probably no time in the world's history has the efficiency of vaccination as a preventive for small pox been so conclusively and effectively demonstrated as in the Philippine Islands since American occupation. The evidence of value is incontestable. During Spanish times it was necessary each year, during the dry season, to erect in Manilla a large temporary hospital to which the many hundred victims of small pox could be taken. The great majority of them died. During the past five years not one person has died in Manila from small pox who had been successfully vaccinated during the five previous years; nor has any one died of small pox in Manila since June, 1909.

In 1907, systematic vaccination was completed in the six provinces near Manila. These provinces have a population of approximately 1,000,000, and from time immemorial until a few years ago the annual mortality from small pox was at least 6,000. Since 1907, not one person has died of small pox who had been successfully vaccinated, and only a few cases have occured. In these few cases not a death occurred among vaccinated persons. This has been the experience in other provinces throughout the Islands since the American occupation, and only in instances in which vaccination has been relaxed have cases of small pox occurred, and then almost entirely among unvaccinated infants or among immigrants. This report contains many other convincing figures, but to the intolerant individuals who oppose vaccination, experience is alike, and figures are intended only to conceal the truth.

WILL CLOSE SALOONS OR PAY FORFEIT.

If Stephen Crawford is elected mayor of Alton, Ill., and fails to close the city's saloons on Sunday it will cost him just $2,400. Mr. Crawford is running for office on a reform platform, one of the principal planks of which is a pledge to stop Sunday liquor selling, which has been general. The campaign has been warm and the opposition has questioned Mr. Crawford's sincerity and ability to carry out his promises. Crawford has placed the $2,400 in a local bank as a forfeit to be paid to the city in case he fails to close the saloons if elected.

AROUND RHODE ISLAND.

Riot in Attempt to Break Up North Providence Improvement Meeting.

Trouble in Barrington Over State Road Matter—Victim of Automobile Dead.

Friday evening's meeting of the Marieville Improvement Association in North Providence was the scene of a small riot. Stones were thrown through the windows and shots were exchanged in the attempt to break up what was known to be an anti-gambling discussion. The work of the association in ridding the town of vice had attracted unusual attendance, and the crowd evidently had an idea that the presence of John Doherty meant, for as soon as he sat down a stone broke the window at the side of Rev. C. E. Morgan, who was speaking at the time. The window had a heavy screen on it, and the missile did not go inside. There was a rush for the door, but no one was in sight, and the meeting quieted down, until during Mr. Doherty's remarks an was interrupted by oaths and epithets from outside. Two young hangers-on at the gambling resort wished to enter, but were refused, and shortly the glass in the door was broken, evidently by a "black jack" found inside later. One of the men inside fired a blank shot through the hole in the window. Instead of frightening away the intruders, this drew more stones and several shots. Everything was in a hubbub at once, and those making up the gathering went out again, though more slowly, led by Mr. Doherty, who had been invited out. The police were called, but Officer Capuano refused even to stay at the place to prevent further trouble, claiming he was not paid for it. The chief of police could not be reached by telephone. Those who made the trouble were recognized, and a committee was appointed to secure warrants for their arrest. The opposition made the gathering all the more determined, and meetings will be held every Friday night hereafter.

The people of Barrington have discovered that they invited trouble, although acting in good faith, when they asked the state to apply its new "state aid for town highways" law to that town. In the hope that a general conference will straighten out the tangle, the town council has called a special meeting, at which the Assemblymen and others in authority will be invited to explain the situation. The town, regularly and according to law, made a sufficiently large highway appropriation to allow it to ask the state for highway aid under chapter 594 of the Public Laws, passed May 6, 1910. This request was granted, and the appropriation bill now in the senate includes a sum of money for the town of Barrington for this purpose. After this, the town requested the State Board of Public Roads to replace a certain stretch of roadway in Nayatt with macadam; in other words, to build a new town road in place of an old one, using the town's appropriation for highway construction and maintenance and the state's portion given under the law for state aid. Just about the time the construction work was to commence it was discovered that this "state aid" law didn't say a word about construction—it mentions only maintenance and repairs. The Board of Public Roads asked the attorney general for an opinion. Can the State Board of Public Roads build a new road under that law? Can the board let a contract to have that work done? These were the questions put to the attorney general. In brief form. In both cases he said "No." The attorney general is of the opinion that the act concerning state aid refers only to maintenance and repairs, and that it is not the intention of the state, or the law, to have any of that money used for new construction work.

Joseph Lancaster, an employe of the New England Steam Brick Company at Barrington, who was struck by an automobile in Barrington last Saturday night, suffering a fracture of the spine and other injuries, died Friday night at the Rhode Island Hospital. Lancaster is supposed to have been hit by one of two motor cars, which were seen going toward Providence about 11 o'clock on the night of the accident. The man was found, unconscious, at the side of the road, after midnight. He had suffered injuries to his spine, as well as severe scalp wounds and other injuries. The Barrington police have been prosecuting a vain search the past week, in an attempt to discover the identity of the occupants of the two automobiles. Lancaster himself was unable to tell how he came to be hurt. He was about 24 years old.

True to its promise of permitting as many as possible of the militia officers to play at the game of war now in progress at San Antonio, Tex., and San Diego, Cal., the War Department has designated the number of officers from each state who will compose the second detail of militiamen with the regulars for instruction purposes. These National Guard officers will go to the two Southern camps April 25, for a stay of two weeks, relieving the first detail sent southward earlier in the month. Two hundred and one militia officers will go to San Antonio and 35 to San Diego. The number from the New England States will be as follows: To San Antonio—Connecticut, 4; Maine 2; Massachusetts, 10; New Hampshire, 2; Rhode Island, 2; Vermont, 1.

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, April 15, 8 A. M.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity—Fair and cooler tonight; Sunday, fair; moderate northwesterly to westerly winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The weather continues cloudy and unsettled along the Atlantic slope and in the southern states, with precipitation in moderate amounts in northern districts and heavy amounts at several southern stations, during the past 24 hours. It has become clear, however, in the Lake region and nearly all the country west of the Mississippi valley. A slight depression is central at Raleigh, N. C. The western high pressure area advances rather slowly, with a tendency toward the southeast. As yet there has been but a slight fall in temperature in the eastern half of the country, as the cool wave accompanying the high pressure area in the west has shown but little eastward movement. The temperature remains low, however, throughout the Rocky Mountain region and their eastern slope eastward to central Kansas. In New York at 8 a. m. it was 50, Washington 52, Jacksonville 68, St. Louis 46, Chicago 40, Kansas City 38, Des Moines 40, St. Paul 32, Denver 28, San Francisco 50 and Portland, Oregon 42.

The party drove to the executive mansion for breakfast, the guests of Governor McGovern. Following a reception in the legislative assembly Colonel Roosevelt was driven to the University where a large gathering made up of members of the legislature, University faculty, students and citizens.

CRUSHED BY HEAVY LAUNCH.

Chief Machinist's Mate John Carlsen Killed at Torpedo Station.

Driver Ahearn's Heel Run Over by a Street Car on the Point Route.

Chief Machinists' Mate John E. Carlson was fatally crushed at the Torpedo Station Friday afternoon, and died during the evening at the naval hospital. He was waiting to make repairs to one of the little launches built for the ill fated Maine which proved to be too heavy for her to carry. These launches for years have been doing duty at the Torpedo Station.

The launch was being raised by lighter Useful to her deck, where it could be worked upon, when there was a sudden swaying of the craft, which caught Carlson and jammed him. The 15-ton craft was soon moved off him and he was rushed to the station dispensary, where he was given such relief as possible, and was then taken to the Naval Hospital. There it was at first proposed to operate for internal injuries, and then it was decided that this would only hasten death, which would be a matter of only a few hours at best. In addition to internal injuries, his thigh and arm were crushed.

Carlson was unmarried and his enlistment papers give as his nearest relatives two sisters, one in Worcester and the other in St. Paul. They were notified. He was a member of the Chief Petty Officers' Club and also a recent recruit to Camp Thomas, Spanish War Veterans, who are making the usual preparations for the last honors to a comrade.

Between 10:30 and 11 o'clock this morning an accident happened on the Point route of the Providence street railroad. Michael Ahearn, driver for the Peckham Company, was coming in Third street, and the Training Station car was going toward the Station, beyond the new naval hospital. It is reported that the horse shied at the car and threw out the driver, and the car ran over his right leg, cutting the heel so badly that amputation of the lower part of the leg was necessary. The ambulance was summoned, having just returned from another trip, and the injured man was taken to the hospital.

The driver of the ambulance reported that Ahearn fell between the wagon and the car and one leg spread away from the body so that the heel lay on the car rail. The appearance of the horse and wagon would go to show that there had been a collision, as both were damaged.

More will be learned about the affair when Ahearn is fit to talk. He is an old and reliable driver and had worked for the firm since first he went to work. His father before him drove for the firm.

Just before 10 o'clock this morning John L. O'Neill, a concrete man at the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association new building, had a fall while at work and the ambulance was summoned. It must have been a peculiar summons, for the ambulance went first to the Army and Navy rooms on Thames street, where no aid was needed; then to the Young Men's Christian Association on Mary street, where also there was no call for aid. Finally the driver took a chance and went to the new building, where it was found the ambulance was required. By this time the injured man had somewhat recovered from the shock of his fall, and was able to walk to the ambulance from the office, where he was taken. It was reported that his injuries are not serious.

Once before the ambulance was called to this building, and when it responded was sent away, and later the injured man was sent off in a cab. In that case the injuries were not serious, but the ambulance having been called might have been used.

This morning John Sarris, a big, good-natured Greek who keeps a store on Long wharf, came near cutting off one of his hands while cutting meat. It was an accident and John went to a doctor and had the wound dressed.

Thursday, while unloading a barge of crushed stone at Fort Greble, a Portuguese laborer was struck by the bucket and had one leg broken. He was taken to the post hospital, where his injuries were dressed and he was later brought to his home here.

The two accidents this morning happened to two men who are known perhaps as well, and so as many people all over the city, as any two in town. There was genuine regret at the depot and freight yard among all the drivers over the accident to Ahearn, who year after year had been steadily working among them, never knowing what it was to miss a day, and than whom there was no more careful driver. Then there is Manager Jack O'Neill of the Naval Reserve basket ball team, who is also at the hospital, the result of the fall at the Army and Navy. His injuries, however, are reported to be slight.

A DOUBLE NAVAL FUNERAL.

There will be double funeral honors from the naval hospital Sunday afternoon, when the bodies of Chief Machinist's Mate John E. Carlson and Apprentice Seaman Earl Harrell will be brought to this city to be shipped away. Each will have its own mourning party, but the official funeral party will be the same. The body of Carlson will rest on a gun carriage drawn by enlisted men, and that of Harrell will be carried in the undertaker's wagon. As an escort to the body of Carlson Camp Thomas and the Chief Petty Officers' Club will parade, and hence it is expected that the funeral party will be large. A sister of Carlson's was expected here early this afternoon, but not arriving it has been necessary to make arrangements without learning her desires.

LOBSTER SEASON OPEN.

Not Many Except Inside Pots Worked on Account of the Weather—Fish Still Pretty Scarce.

The lobstermen began work early this morning. The open season is on and they lost no time. Owing to the fact that the weather was so uncertain that the predictions were changed frequently, and they were afraid of an easterly storm, those who have locations outside did not do much in the way of planting lobster pots, but there was a good business among those who have pots inside. Some of the boats are still tied up at Long wharf, with 45 pots each on board, ready to be placed when conditions favor.

C. A. Easterbrooks had a tautog, the first trap-caught of the season, this morning. Friday C. B. Anderson put in his third trap, and this morning when he hauled he found that the three traps had caught the same number of fish which two caught the night before. The fish are still pretty scarce.

ATTACKED BY A DOG.

Canine Assails Two Children in Providence Before Being Shot.

PROVIDENCE, April 15.—Two children were attacked by a dog, apparently rabid, on Niantic avenue today. Neither was seriously injured and the canine was caught and killed by the police. The dog, a large brindle terrier, first assailed Irene Walker, ten years old, tore most of her clothing from her body and inflicted a wound on her hip. Being driven off, he then fell upon James H. Whalen aged nine, but was beaten away before he could seriously injure the boy, who received several scratches and had his clothes badly torn. The canine was finally corralled by Mounted Patrolman Edward Maguire, who held him until he was shot by a dog officer. The dog is believed to be the same one which, yesterday, attacked a citizen and Patrolman J. K. Keegan, who fired two shots at the animal.

ONLY MAN ON BOARD ESCAPES.

Drifts About Almost All Night After Barge Sailor Goes Down Off Point Judith.

Barge Sailor, one of four in tow of tug Salutation, sank some time Friday night near Point Judith, after Captain Reese, who was the only man on board, had barely escaped going down with her.

The Salutation and four barges laden with coal, from Perth Amboy, N. J., bound east, passed Watch Hill at 4 p. m. and at 7 appeared to be carrying her tow all right, as she was reported off Quonchontang point. Two hours later, as she came in sight of the life saving station, she showed signs of trouble, the two rear barges having broken away. The tug, however, was proceeding in the direction of Point Judith with the other two barges.

The barges which broke away were found—the Alma and the Sailor. The Alma managed to anchor, but the Sailor listed and showed signs of leaking, and finally sank. In same manner Captain Reese, on the Sailor, either before or after the vessel went down, managed to secure one of the dories aft. In this frail craft the skipper drifted about most of the night, until his cries for help were heard by the guard at the Point Judith station, whereupon a boat was sent out and the man rescued, more dead than alive. At the life saving station stimulants were administered and he was put to bed, where he was said later to be slowly recovering from exposure and fatigue.

When the Sailor foundered a large Newfoundland dog, the pet and companion of Captain Reese, went down with her and drowned.

THE LOSS OF NAVY TARGET.

Commander Hines, of Supply Ship Glacier, Which Had It in Tow, Court-Martialled.

The loss at sea March 25 of the big navy target which supply ship Glacier was towing from the Mare Island navy yard to San Diego, for use in practice by the ships of the Pacific fleet, has resulted in the trial by court-martial of Commander Harold K. Hines, commander of the Glacier, on charges of neglect of duty. The target, a large and almost submerged raft, weighing many tons, was a derelict off the coast between Los Angeles and Santa Barbara for more than a week and constituted a serious menace to navigation until it was recovered by the torpedo flotilla.

Major Charles S. Hill, fleet marine officer, is judge advocate of the court-martial, and Lieutenant Commander C. P. Owens, assisted by Lieutenant Commander Hilary Williams, both of cruiser West Virginia, are conducting the defense.

TO GET RID OF PHILIPPINES.

Negotiations May be Opened for Their Independent Government.

Democrats Trying to Find Out How Much the Islands Are Costing Each Year.

[Washington Correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Not in this session, but in the next when the appropriation bills are under consideration it is quite likely that an effort will be made to get rid of the Philippines.

This can be done under the Hulman rule for retrenchment. That rule can be made to do anything that a majority wants, and the army appropriation bill can be tied up with a provision to withdraw the troops and open negotiations with the great powers interested in the Orient for a protectorate and independent government of the islands. President Taft might not approve such a measure, but there is a strong sentiment in Congress for an adjustment of that kind.

The Democrats are going to make an effort to find out how much the Philippines have cost and how much they are costing every year. Congressman Cox of Ohio has introduced a resolution asking the President to furnish a statement to the House showing the cost of the Islands up to the present time.

It is almost impossible to make any such statement. It cannot be figured out with any degree of accuracy, for the cost of the army and navy will have to be estimated. Extravagant claims like $600,000,000 have been made, and even there have been low estimates like $200,000,000. It would make a good job for the committees on expenditures in the War Department. These expenditures committees, ten in number, have been considered as a sort of joke, giving members who happen to be placed at the head of them a chairmanship, but if they get busy on expenditures they may be able to turn up something interesting.

Our consul at Winnipeg reports that Manitoba has become a great fishing province, and many hundreds of thousands of dollars are received for this industry. This is much different from the early days when the only settlers in the province lived along the Red river of the north and the Assiniboin.

"There was fishing in those days, too, but it came under the head of a 'ground hog case.' Many an old timer has gone out in the morning with a hook and line knowing that it was 'catfish or no breakfast.' But that day is past and the fish of which we hear comes from the northern part of the province where there are great lakes and streams.

Hereafter there will be a reform in the arrangements on big days in the House of Representatives or the wives of members will not look down from the galleries and see their husbands in their legislative hall. On the opening day of Congress the wives of many members failed to gain admittance and others were compelled to sit on the steps between the gallery seats.

Those who gained admittance and got good seats had to go to the House two hours before the session opened. The matter has been discussed by the women of the Congressional Club, and they have "gone on a strike." They have told their husbands that there must be better provision for the wives of the members hereafter.

When Senator Kern was sworn in as Senator from Indiana, the oath was administered by Vice President Sherman, the man who defeated Kern for the higher office. Kern was congratulated by Sherman and immediately installed to the chair to preside over the Senate. It was one of those graceful acts which show that men in high stations do not allow things which occasion offense.

Bills introduced proposing an income tax remind us that such a tax is possible, although it will be stoutly resisted, just as it was when the last tariff bill was under consideration. If the Democrats of the House should decide to make the income tax a part of their program it would pass, and as there was a majority for such a tax in the last Senate it is believed that the new Senate would surely pass it.

In every Congress bills are introduced providing that the government shall take up the question of good roads. As yet no large appropriation has been made for the purpose, but in each Congress the movement seems to have gained strength.

It takes a long while for such an innovation to become popular enough to receive Congressional sanction, especially when it means the expenditure of a large sum of money, but the farmers of the country are interesting themselves in the road movement, and Congress may become committed to national expenditure in that direction before many years.

CARE OF BABY'S SKIN FROM BIRTH

Mothers throughout the world have come to realize that no other soap is so well suited for cleansing and preserving baby's delicate skin and hair as Cuticura soap. It is so pure that it may be used with confidence from the hour of birth. Warm baths with Cuticura soap and gentle anointings with Cuticura ointment afford a safe, speedy and economical method of freeing the skin and scalp of eczemas, rashes, itchings, irritations, crustings and chafings, and of establishing a permanent condition of skin and hair health.

us intend to stay. (Applause.)

(The resolution which we have before us today provides for two things. This Congress has put upon it two duties. The first is the duty of providing a way by which the people can express their opinion in amending their constitution, the second is the duty of doing that in such a form that the people can pass upon that amendment in a clear and understanding manner. This resolution proposes two things: The first is open and frank. It proposes to move to the people of the various states the right to elect their Senators by direct vote. It proposes, in the second place, a thing that is not open, a thing that is not frank, and that is, to change the constitution in such a way as to rob Congress of the right to protect itself.

"I have heard nothing here, on either side, of criticism of the first open and frank proposition. Members of both sides, almost unanimously, have stated that they believed in the election of United States Senators by the people. The only criticism that has come has been criticism of submitting to the people so important a change in such a manner that they cannot pass upon one change without also passing upon another.

Mr. Speaker, I have been listening as a new member, and I have been pleased by the remarks made by members of the majority that they wanted to play fair. If you want to play fair as a body, play fair by placing before the people the resolution of amendment in such a form that they can understand it and vote on the prime purpose and not be held back by a secondary amendment. I therefore ask you to accept the amendment offered by the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. Young), and having accepted the amendment to ratify the resolution and ratify it practically unanimously.

As the gentleman from Illinois has said, while the people of the west said, while the people of the United States have plainly asked for the privilege of electing Senators by the vote of the people of the several states, they have not and will not demand that the Senate and the House of Representatives yield their power to protect themselves. Therefore, in order to protect ourselves as we legislate for the great American people, we should adopt the amendment offered by the gentleman from Michigan and then unanimously pass the constitutional amendment asked for by the people. (Applause.)

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

Is Guaranteed by

John M. Callahan, Special Agent.

Nearly everyone has dandruff, and must reconcile themselves to the idea of becoming completely bald or resort to the use of Newbro's Herpicide.

The manufacturers have absolute faith in Herpicide to kill the germ and remove all traces of dandruff. So perfect is this belief that all dealers are instructed to sell the preparation with a "money back" agreement.

Such supreme confidence is the best evidence in the world of the merit of Herpicide. They know the result, hence the guarantee. It protects the purchaser.

Used as directed, Newbro's Herpicide kills the germ that causes dandruff and prevents the hair from coming out. It stops itching of the scalp, which is so disagreeable.

Send 10c in postage or silver for sample and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

Herpicide is for sale by all druggists, and applications may be obtained at good barber shops.

Insurance Granted After Sirolin Treatment

There are numbers of well authenticated cases of rejections by life insurance companies because of lung or throat ailments afterwards accepted when restored to normal health by Sirolin.

A persistent cough with its accompanying emaciation is considered good cause for "turning down" an applicant for life insurance even though tubercle bacilli cannot be detected.

In such cases act immediately in easing the cough Sirolin if such cases act immediately in easing the cough and soothing the inflamed air passages—through its antiseptic action it repels the invasion of tubercle bacilli, and because of its tonic, strengthening effect it creates appetite with a consequent gain in flesh and the appearance of health. For trial as well as deep-seated Coughs and Colds there is no substitute for Sirolin. Sirolin is now sold by leading druggists everywhere. If not readily obtainable write to

WILLIAM M. OLIN DEAD.

Secretary of State for Massachusetts During Nineteen Years.

BOSTON, April 15.—The voice that proclaimed a governor at 19 inaugurations is still, for Secretary of State William M. Olin, soldier, journalist, private secretary and faithful state official, answered the last muster call at noon today. Pneumonia was the cause of death.

It was "Billy" Olin's fate to be born in Georgia and after spending half a dozen boyhood years in Northern schools, the printing office of the Worcester Transcript and active newspaper work, to join several hundred thousand others in trying to fight his way back home. He fought two years and seven months in the Northern army and ended his military career as he began it, as Private Olin of the Thirty-sixth Massachusetts volunteers. Twelve years later, after he had won his journalistic spurs in this city and at Washington, Governor Thomas Talbot of Massachusetts called him back to public life as his private secretary and later, conferred upon him the honorary title of colonel as a member of the governor's staff. He was retained as private secretary by John D. Long for a year and then went into government employ in a similar capacity under Port Collectors Worthington and Beard and United States Senator Henry L. Dawes.

The state again claimed him in 1891 and since January, 1892, he had signed all state documents and proclaimed every governor. His chief pleasure in later years was singing old war songs with a few campaign comrades, and "Billy Olin's gang" has enlivened many a Grand Army campfire and encampment, many a veteran gathering and many a public dinner.

Colonel Olin was in his sixty-sixth year of his life and in the twentieth as secretary of state. The legislature will name his successor.

Official announcement of the death of Colonel Olin was transmitted to the legislature by Governor Foss during the afternoon. All state and national flags on the buildings of the commonwealth were half-masted and will remain so until after the funeral, and later, it is expected that some public recognition will be made of his services by the legislature.

IN A PRIVATE CONCERN.

Mrs. Hetty Green and her Son to Consolidate Banking Interests.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Mrs. Hetty Green, with the assistance of her son, Colonel E. H. R. Green, has decided to consolidate her interests in a private bank with a chain of branches running across the country. "In New York" said Colonel Green today, "our firm will probably be named E. H. R. Green & Co. Branches will be opened in Boston, Chicago, Dallas and San Francisco. We have decided that our interests can best be served from a private bank here in New York. Since the laws of the various states do not gives us the right to hold real estate in the name of one corporation or trust company common to all, we have had to organize like other private bankers of this city whose interests extend elsewhere."

Colonel Green pictures his mother as grossly misrepresented in the past. Although she conducts her business on careful and conservative lines, he says she has made it an invariable rule to re-invest her profits in the territory from which they were drawn for the upbuilding of that territory.

The colonel was asked about the benefactions of Carnegie and Rockefeller.

"Both men" he said, "are undoubtedly sincere in their present efforts to use their wealth in doing permanent good to the country, from which they have derived it. I have talked with my mother long and earnestly along this line, and when the time comes, I am sure she will be found in the fore ranks of those endeavoring to better economic conditions in our land.

"Since my mother began her business career she has never asked more than six per cent for her money. The bulk of her loans have been made at considerably lower rates. You may set it down that the ratio of income diminishes as the size of the estate grows. Because of this attitude and widely-known liberality to her customers in panic times my mother has been able to skim the cream of the borrowers.

"Another point that adds to my pride in her business name is her intense loyalty to her country. She would not invest in a foreign enterprise if it guaranteed a certain profit of 500 per cent in 30 days. The modern financiers look upon her as behind the times and some have volunteered to bring me up to date, but if I am one half so fortunate in my opinions and judgments as she has been, I shall be doing better than any financier I have met."

ATTACK EXPECTED MOMENTARIALLY.

the leader of the insurrectos at Agua Prieta by the Department of Justice that the incidents of Thursday, which resulted in the killing of several Americans and the wounding of others, would not be repeated. According to the announcement Attorney General Wickersham communicated with the United States district attorney at Douglas, Ariz., and directed him to inform the rebel commander that in the future, he must keep away from the American border. Mr. Wickersham was informed later that his instructions had been carried out and the insurrecto leader was anxious to obey.

The representations which the State Department so far has made to the Mexican government have been of a precautionary and warning character. The question of indemnity for the loss of life and property at Douglas has not yet been raised. That is a matter for the future, it is pointed out, the pressing need at this time being to see that no American settlement is exposed to danger either from federal or rebel bullets.

Supplementing its first representations in regard to the border situation, the State Department today requested the Mexican government to extend protection to the Canal Development Company, an American concern, whose supplies at Mexicali, lower California, according to reports received here are threatened with destruction by insurgents. On this plant the Imperial Valley of California depends for its water supply. According to official information here, there are between 500 and 700 federal soldiers in the neighborhood of Mexicali and it is confidently expected the Mexican government will order an adequate guard to the scene.

The disposition of the 50 Mexican federal soldiers (three officers and 47 men) who surrendered at the battle of Agua Prieta, and who are "in charge" of the commanding officer of the American forces at Douglas, Ariz., presents an intricate problem to the American government for solution.

The question whether or not these men should be interned and held as prisoners is being generally discussed by officials here. The general impression seems to be that there is no statute under which the United States can hold the soldiers, especially in view of the fact that this country does not recognize the existence of the war in Mexico. The question will remain in its present status until the Mexicans ask for their release. The American commanding officer at Douglas, Ariz., has asked and received from the War Department full authority to provide rations and everything necessary for the comfort of the Mexicans "in his charge."

The situation at Douglas from an American standpoint, is extremely delicate according to reports received by the War Department today, which declare the people of that town are strongly pro-insurgent. A strong patrol of American soldiers has been thrown along the border to preserve neutrality, but notwithstanding this it is asserted that some of the people of Douglas have assisted the revolutionists with guns and ammunition at places where they have been able to evade the patrol. During the fight at Agua Prieta on Thursday, the American troops and customs officials confiscated 18 rifles that were on their way across the line. Men also were trying, the official advices state, to cross the boundary.

TO GIVE ADDED ASSISTANCE.

Four More Troops of Cavalry Ordered to Douglas, Arizona.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Following a conference at the White House today between President Taft, Secretary of War Dickinson and General Wood, the latter announced that four more troops of cavalry would be ordered to Douglas, Ariz., from the nearest patrol station to assist the United States troops now there.

SHEARWATER LANDS MARINES.

British Gunboat Gives Protection to Foreigners in San Quenton.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 15.—British sloop of war Shearwater, which came into port yesterday, stopped at San Quentin, Lower California, last Tuesday, landed marines and brought away several foreigners who asked protection. Captain Vivian of the Shearwater sent ashore a force of 34 marines with a Maxim gun and three British flags. The Maxim was placed on the top of the hotel and the flags were hoisted at three places where protection was asked. A force of rebels was approaching the town, but halted when they saw the place guarded by the marines.

The Shearwater remained in the harbor Tuesday afternoon and night and took on board Captain Crewe Reade, an Englishman, William Stanley, an American and another American whose name was not learned. The marines then re-embarked and the gunboat proceeded. The refugees were landed at Ensenada.

ALL KNOWLEDGE DISCLAIMED.

British Foreign Office Unaware of the San Quentin Incident.

LONDON, April 15.—The news cabled here from Washington that a force of marines with a Maxim gun from the British warship Shearwater landed last Tuesday at San Quentin, Lower California, to protect that town against a threatened attack of Mexican insurgents, came as a complete surprise to the British foreign office. Nothing whatever has been heard regarding the incident, was the statement given out this morning by the secretary in charge of the foreign office.

The Admiralty similarly disclaims any knowledge of the landing of a British force at the Mexican town, though it is admitted the Shearwater was expected to call at San Quentin en route for Las Paz, Mexico, for which port the warship left April 3, bound for San Diego. The Admiralty officials say that when Captain Vivian, commander of the Shearwater, telegraphically reported his arrival at San Diego, he made no mention of the San Quentin incident.

TWO SHOTS FIRED AT HIM.

Attempt to Assassinate Agent of Diaz in San Antonio.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—The Mexican revolution was carried to the streets of San Francisco last night, in an attempt to assassinate Colonel Alexis de Clairmont, agent of President Diaz, commissioned to purchase the formula for an explosive here. Two shots were fired at Clairmont as he was entering his house. He returned the fire, but the assassin escaped.

TO HOLD "JOSS DAY."

In Memory of Star Pitcher of Cleveland American League Club.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 15.—The Cleveland American League Club owner, Charles Somers, has practically decided to hold a "Joss day" at League Park some time in May in memory of Addie Joss, who died yesterday. Somers is much downcast over the news of the death of Joss who was his star pitcher. Somers is appreciative of the service Joss has rendered the club and on "Joss day" at the park it is planned to turn the receipts over to the family of the player.

O'SHAUNESSY AND UTTER.

Former Does Not Represent the Legislature, or the Assembly the State.

Latter Declares That Rhode Island Needs No Defense and Opposes Direct Elections Bill.

Congressman O'Shaunessy of the Second Rhode Island district, in his address in the House in favor of the Democratic bill providing for the popular election of United States Senators, said that if there is any place in the country where the opportunity for the people to rule is awaited more impatiently than in another it is in the state of Rhode Island. Mr. Utter, in his reply to Mr. O'Shaunessy, after saying that Rhode Island does not need any defense, declared that he had been a resident of the state for half a century, while his colleague had lived in the state for a little less than four years. "I doubt if he is any more ready to leave the State than I am," he continued. "Indeed, both of us intend to stay."

A full report of the discussion on the part of the two Rhode Island Representatives follows:

Mr. O'Shaunessy—Mr. Speaker, I wish I could say today that I represented the legislature of Rhode Island, but I feel confident in saying that I represent the people of Rhode Island in giving my advocacy and vote to the proposed amendment directing the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people. It may seem strange for me to say that I do not represent the legislature of the state of Rhode Island, but to you it will be made very plain when I state that the legislature of that state does not represent the people of the state. (Applause on the Democratic side.)

Rhode Island unfortunately is one of those distinct cases to which we can point unerringly as a victim of archaic laws and a moribund constitution. And I am gratified that the Democracy is in power in this House, in order that we may take a short cut across lots in Rhode Island and give to the people the power to vote for United States Senators, and in that way help them materially to an enjoyment of liberties which have been suppressed by moth-eaten charters. (Applause on the Democratic side.)

"Today in the state of Rhode Island they are battling for an enlarged franchise, which is to my mind a contemptible term for an enlarged freedom. I can better illustrate it by telling you that the city of Providence, with a population of 225,000 people, is represented in the state senate of Rhode Island by one member, and that another section of the population, containing 23,030 people and 5,620 qualified voters, is represented in the same Senate by 20 Senators. You can easily see the disproportion and you can easily recognize how derelict I would be in my duty if I did not say something for poor, down-trodden Rhode Island today. (Applause on the Democratic side.)

And it is that condition, and it is that frightful misrepresentation a minority of the people, a fraction, practically, of the people, represented in the legislature through a rotten borough system—that sent for so many years to the United States Senate the gentleman who gave the Democratic party its great opportunity when he wrote into the laws the odious and malodorous Payne-Aldrich tariff law. (Applause on the Democratic side). We can take virtue from that condition and we can exercise a little joy in the thought that the gentleman misrepresenting the state of Rhode Island in the United States Senate did not represent the people of the state of Rhode Island, but did represent only a poor fraction or minority of them.

Mr. Young of Michigan—Will the gentleman yield for a question?

Mr. O'Shaunessy—I will.

Mr. Young of Michigan—The gentleman has spoken of the inequality of representation in the Rhode Island legislature. Would the gentleman favor an amendment to the constitution of the United States which would only give Rhode Island a representation in the Senate of the United States to which it is entitled by its population? (Applause on the Republican side.)

Mr. O'Shaunessy—I would not; and I will say to the gentleman from Michigan that there is a sort of threadbare argument down my way, and they have been harping on it for a century. (Applause on the Democratic side.)

I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that I am very much—profoundly, in fact—in favor of this amendment to the constitution of the United States. I believe that it will do away with the contest of money bags. I believe it will restore the representation of the people to where it belongs.

The Speaker—The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. O'Shaunessy—I want but one minute more.

Mr. Bucker of Missouri—I will yield to the gentleman in one minute more.

Mr. O'Shaunessy—In the opportunity given to me today I wish to emphasize my thorough accord with the principle that the people should rule, and if there is any place in this whole country where that opportunity is awaited more impatiently than in another it is in this little state of Rhode Island. I can say, possibly with some sorrow for my brethren on the Republican side of the House, that once we get this amendment to the constitution, and once we have the popular election of Senators in the state of Rhode Island, I believe firmly, just as sure as I am standing here, that we shall have two Democratic Senators representing that state. (Applause on the Democratic side.)

Mr. Utter—Mr. Speaker, I hardly expected that the necessity would arise today to defend Rhode Island, and I am glad to say that Rhode Island does not need any defense. When the opportunity arises for this house to consider Rhode Island under the state of the Union, Rhode Island will be found making a favorable report. (Applause) I do think it is proper for me to say, however, that, though I have been a resident of the state of Rhode Island for half a century, and my colleague from that state (Mr. O'Shaunessy) has been a resident of the state for a little less than four years, I doubt if he is any more ready to leave the state today than I am. Indeed, both of

FITTING OUT THE BOATS.

Several Purchases and Activities of Former Owners Make the Shipyards Lively.

Mr. George Cope has secured a new boat, yawl Juanita, recently owned by Rev. Dr. Conover, who has been using her in the East river and decided that he would give her up. She is a large, roomy boat, with good cabin accommodations, and has been laid up between the bridges at Tiverton. Mr. Cope recently sold his boat because it was small and was on the lookout for one with more room on board, when he ran against the Juanita, and as soon as he secured possession he had her towed to the shipyard, where she was at once rigged and will be put in condition. The Juanita is well built, and is planked with oak, which will remind George of the old-time ships of the navy, with their sides of oak.

Mr. Riley has sold his auxiliary catboat Pauline to a Providence man and she is being prepared at Williams & Manchester's to go to her new sailing port.

The fishermen are fast making ready for the mackerel business. Captain Munson's Alice was launched at Williams & Manchester's early this week, the Wood & Mack was hauled out here today and the Thos. B. Congdon was hauled out at the shipyard Friday. Fishing steamer Spray was launched at Williams & Manchester's today.

Gordon Bliven has under way, at the old Bliven boatship, a catboat 23 feet long and 10 beam, which is being constructed on the lines so long followed by the late Lake Bliven. In building boats, the best of material will put together. She is to have a well, a cabin and an auxiliary engine of 10 or more horse-power.

Mr. W. A. Lawrence of Portsmouth has purchased a 20-foot open launch, with 5-horse-power Tuttle engine, which has been stored at Bliven's yard.

Sloop Clarice, formerly catboat Hazel, has been fitted out at Bliven's and is ready for the season at Cloyne School.

Mr. Gosling's big catboat Marie has been fitted out at Bliven's and is ready for service when the weather favors.

SECRETARY MEYER UPHELD.

Mandamus Refused by Court to Captain Who Seeks to Become a Rear Admiral.

Holding that a cabinet officer acting in obedience to an opinion of the Attorney General of the United States cannot be compelled by mandamus to act contrary to such opinion, Justice Barnard in the District of Columbia supreme court refused a mandamus to Captain Jefferson F. Moser of California, to compel the Secretary of the Navy to place his name on the navy register with the rank of rear admiral. When retiring Captain Moser, the Navy Department refused to give him the higher rank.

and a staff of singers containing Vaughn Comfort, Matt Keefe, James Meehan, the Irish tenor, Tom Kane and Master Leo Fagan. "The Crimson Trellis," which is the subject of the first-part act, was conceived and painted by Ernest Albert for this year's tour. A special feature of this "first part" portion of the entertainment this season is the appearance of James J. Corbett, as interlocutor and in his story of the Jeffries-Johnson contest at Reno, Nevada.

DEATH OF WILLIAM B. HUDSON.

Mr. William B. Hudson, who died at his residence on Clinton avenue Thursday, after a year's illness, was born in Newport December 14, 1851, and had spent the greater part of his life here, having been engaged in the cabinet-making business, and being last employed by Mr. John T. Haire. He was a son of the late Thomas and Abby A. Hudson and a grandson of Henry J. Hudson, the latter an old Newport merchant who died many years ago. He is survived by a widow, who was Miss Celia Martin; one sister, Mrs. James C. Robinson of Brooklyn, and a brother, Mr. James B. Hudson of New Brunswick, N. J.

The deceased was of a quiet disposition, but an earnest man, an excellent workman and a warm personal friend. He was a member of Weenat Shassit Tribe of Red Men and of Carpenters' Local Union, No. 175, of this city, both of which bodies will attend the funeral.

POOR BOXES CARRIED OFF.

Vandals Secure Probably from $60 to $100 at St. Joseph's Church.

Entrance Apparently Made Through One of the Front Doors, During the Night.

This morning, when the sexton opened St. Joseph's Church, he found that some one had entered the building during the night and removed the two poor boxes, placed against the altar to receive the offerings for the poor. The boxes were made of wrought iron pipe, about four inches in diameter and three feet long, and were held against the altar by two-inch iron bands, with three-inch lag bolts, riveted to the wood. The bolts had been removed, and with the iron straps were found where the boxes had been, but no trace was seen of the latter.

The church was closed at 10 o'clock Friday night, and not opened until 8 o'clock this morning. The easternmost of the front doors on Touro street was found ajar and the bolt in the lock pushed back, showing that the door had been opened with a key, and left unfastened when the robber escaped. Beside the doors on the front of the church, there is only one other way of entering the building, through the vestry, but to reach that part of the church it is necessary to climb the gate and pass near the rectory, and it is not believed that entrance could have been made in this way without disturbing some one in the rectory.

The poor boxes which were taken away had been in place since the first of January and it is not known how much there is in them. The contributions are generally in small amounts, five-cent and ten-cent pieces, and it is estimated that the boxes may have contained somewhere between $50 and $100.

The boxes were painted in aluminum paint and ought easily to be recognized. It is supposed that the robbers removed them to a secluded spot and there broke the iron to obtain the contents.

THE FORT SUMTER FLAG.

Retained by Major Anderson Through the War and Again Hoisted, Disputing Miss Cowley's Claim.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

Dear Sir: An article in your paper of Thursday, April 13, in relation to the claim of Miss Eliza Cowley to the flag hauled down at the beginning of the war, at Fort Sumter, is, I think, a mistake. General Beauregard allowed General Anderson to leave the fort and take his flag with him. At the close of the war I was privileged to see General Anderson raise the same flag at Fort Sumter. It was very affecting. General Anderson apparently feeble, came to the foot of the flag-staff and took from a traveling bag the flag, and turning to the crowd said in part: "This flag I lowered, but was allowed to retain, and for four years it has been my one hope and prayer to be enabled to replace it, and now I have that honor," etc. I think there was not a dry eye as he hauled the flag up, not allowing any one to help him. So you see it could not have been in the possession of Miss Cowley.

ENFORCING THE BUILDING LAWS.

Mechanics are engaged in placing fire escapes on Odd Fellows' hall. The trustees came to an agreement with Building Inspector Sullivan on the matter some weeks since, but it has taken some time for the mechanical work to display itself on the building, as such fittings are not kept in stock. Several other buildings will have escapes as soon as they can be built and put up. Even the State House will comply with the law and have its doors open out. One of the surprising things is that, while the legislature made the law, it made no provision for making the changes on the state's own buildings.

TWO RENOVATED CHURCHES.

Re-Decorations and Other Improvements at Trinity and the United Congregational.

Trinity and the United Congregational churches, which have been closed for several weeks, will be occupied for the Easter services. Both have been thoroughly renovated and had minor changes made.

Trinity has been painted throughout the interior, the color being as before white, which is so well suited to the Colonial architecture of the building. The handsome Colonial chandeliers, hung by long chains from the ceiling over the central aisle of the church, and all the side light fixtures, have been re-gilded or re-burnished, and the Bishop Berkeley inscription in front of the organ loft re-painted. Several of the pews have been re-upholstered by their owners, and everything is spick and span for the opening.

There are a few changes. The side walls of the chancel, surrounding the King memorial window of the Resurrection, has been changed from the familiar red to a lighter and more harmonious gray. The two circular windows in the side of the nave, which were closed when Rev. I. P. White was rector, have been re-opened and give additional light to the chancel, bringing out the beauties of that part of the church in stronger relief. In the organ loft stalls or benches have been placed in position, to better accommodate the larger number of the present vested choir. In the robing room a cabinet has been built, for the keeping of the pulpit cloths and other vestments when not in use.

At the United Congregational considerable work has been done. The interior has been thoroughly renovated and cleaned, the rear row of pews has been removed, giving desirable room in the rear of the auditorium, and the walls have been renewed. The handsome decorations by the late John LaFarge have not been touched, except to renew small portions of panels which had become worn or had pealed, and the work of the painters has been devoted to renewing the solid colors of the main pillars and side walls under and above the galleries. In this the original colors have been reproduced in a remarkable degree and there has been no change in the general effect. The handsome panelling in the ceiling and in the rear of the pulpit has not been touched, it being the general desire to have them remain as the master designer planned and executed them. The effect of the re-painting has been to bring out the beautiful effects very much as they were originally.

A new carpet of a soft dark red has been placed on the floor and the pews have all been re-carpeted. This carpet was the gift of the Women's Association to the church. In the vestibule the side walls have been re-painted and the doors will be changed by Sunday, so that they will open outward.

The painting of both churches has been done by R. R. Barker.

A LITTLE MORE RAIN.

It rained again Friday night. This fact must have been generally noted, and about every one said he hoped it would do all the raining it had to do before it stopped, so that there would be pleasant weather for Easter. All that fell, according to the Water Works gauge, was .36 of an inch, just a trifle more than one third of an inch. This is better than nothing and keeps the ponds rising. The south Easton's pond, where there was such a big hole, is gradually filling up, having gained nearly three feet. It has still room to fill, however, being almost five feet below high-water mark.
